A Ballad of London - (to St. W. Massenden)

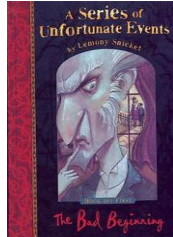

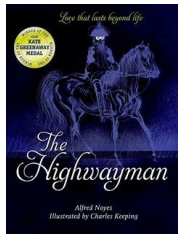

Oh London! London! our delight,
 Great Britain starts upon thy sight,
 Great City of the Marston Stream,
 Whence every English nation takes its name.

Come after London, against the city,
 Where a wall is, there a sign is,
 Carving signs in every hand,
 The very walls of the Island.

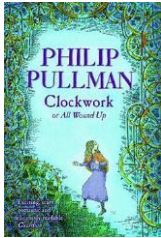

Richard Coeur de Lion

(Oh Providence, We kneele thee, pray,
 That, ere we die, we see thee here.)
